Records of the Bodley family in Devon, England date back to the 1200s. Some were also in the Exeter area. At one time there was a Bodley hamlet with a few people.

The Devon records stop about 150 years before our Thomas Bodley was born. There are still traces of the Bodley name in the area. An old water wheel at Cricklepit Mill at Exeter that was manufactured at the Bodley Foundry in the Victorian Era is still in existence. The foundry closed in 1967.

There was a Bodley pottery, first under the name of Scotia, then Bodley. Opening in 1862, it continued under various Bodley names until 1898. Located first in Shelton-Stoke on Trent, Burslem and Longport, the factories supplied pottery to the Confederate Navy during the American Civil War.

Sir Thomas Bodley married a widow late in life and had no children of his own, but he did have four brothers who may have had descendants.

No records could be found at this time proving when and where Thomas Bodley and Elizabeth McIntosh were born, married or buried. Elizabeth married David Knox, after the death of Thomas, but they were separated or divorced at the time of his death in March of 1780. She was mentioned in the will of her son, Major William Bodley, who died December 4,1780. His will is on file at the Chester County PA Archives.

Major William Bodley died of exposure during the American Revolution. His wife Isabella Parker was carrying his last child at his death. She married Joseph Bartholomew and went to live in Lexington, KY near her family.

Isabella Bodley, daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth, may have married a Mathew Wilson, but there were several Isabella Bodleys in Pennsylvania at the time.

John Bodley, son of Thomas and Elizabeth, died young. I could find no records for him.

Martha Bodley, daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth, married James Hodge. They had several children. The will of James Hodge is on file at Chester County Archives.

Thomas Bodley, son of Thomas and Elizabeth, married Margaretta Byers. He served under his brother, Major William, in the American Revolution. His pension papers telling where he served are on file at the DAR in Washington, DC.

There are gaps in the records I have researched. Do not assume a couple had no children if they are not listed. There could also be children between censuses that wouldn't show.

If there are missing dates or places it is because I didn't find them. The records are as accurate as they can be. Maybe someone in the future will find where our Thomas and Elizabeth came from, their parents, etc. This book is intended to help those that come after me trace their Bodley family.
